Key Differentiators

Builder-Side Expertise:

With 23 years of experience working for a leading construction company, I bring a unique perspective as someone who has been on the builder's side of the fence. This insider knowledge allows me to anticipate builder tactics, identify potential risks, and position subcontractors for success. My deep understanding of how builders operate ensures that subcontractors are always one step ahead.

Unmatched Attention to Detail:

I am known for my meticulous attention to detail, which ensures that no opportunity is missed and no risk is overlooked. From contract reviews to financial analysis, I leave no stone unturned in protecting subcontractors' interests and maximizing their profitability.

Holistic Project Understanding:

My career spans every phase of construction—from estimating and contracts administration to project management and senior operations. This end-to-end expertise allows me to provide comprehensive solutions that address both immediate challenges and long-term goals.
